Notices About Pre-Employment Credit Reports, Investigative Consumer Reports And Background Checks

In connection with your application for Volunteer service with the Teller County Sheriff's Office (the "TCSO"), this will notify you that the TCSO obtains a credit agency consumer report for every applicant for the position you are seeking, who receives a Volunteer service offer, to ensure each such applicant's fitness to serve as a Volunteer of the TCSO. Attached to this Notice is a summary of your rights under applicable federal law. If the TCSO uses information from the report, in whole or in part, making an adverse decision regarding your application, you will receive a notice about the credit reporting company, confirmation that the credit reporting company is not responsible for any adverse action the TCSO takes, and that the credit reporting company is unable to provide you with specific reasons for the action, and a notice about your rights under applicable law to obtain a free copy of your credit report from the credit reporting company within sixty (60) days and your right to dispute the accuracy or completeness of any information in a consumer report.

The TCSO may also use a credit agency to do a reference check, known as an investigative consumer report, as part of the pre-Volunteer service screening process. Investigative consumer reports are reports credit agencies prepare about someone's character, general reputation, personal characteristics or mode of living that are obtained through personal interviews with such people as neighbors, friends and associates and reviewing records and public records, including but not limited to employment records, background reports, efficiency ratings, complaints, grievances, real and personal property records, criminal records and court records. This information may be obtained by contacting your previous employers and/or references you or others provide us. You have the right under the federal Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) to request the additional information from any investigative consumer report, including: (1) a complete and accurate disclosure of the nature and scope of the investigation, and (2) the Federal Trade Commission's summary of consumer rights under the FCRA.

The TCSO will also use the authorization you provide as part of your application to check criminal records and driving records. If driving is part of the position you have been offered as a Volunteer, the County will check driving records to confirm you are properly licensed for the driving that is part of your position.

If you are hired brought on as a Volunteer, this authorization shall remain on file and shall serve as an ongoing authorization for the TCSO to procure background and credit information at any time during your Volunteer service.

Authorization to Obtain Credit Reports and Investigative Consumer Reports and to Check Criminal Records and Driving Records

Name (please print):
Applicant's Street Address:
City/State/Zip:
Social Security Number:

_	A Summary of Your Rights under the Fair Credit Reporting Act
Driver's License Number:
Any other last names:

The federal Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) promotes the accuracy, fairness, and privacy of information in the files of consumer reporting agencies. There are many types of consumer reporting agencies, including credit bureaus and specialty agencies (such as agencies that sell information about check writing histories, medical records, and rental history records). Here is a summary of your major rights under the FCRA. For more information, including information about additional rights, go to www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore or write to: Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, 1700 G Street N.W., Washington, DC 20552.

- You must be told if information in your file has been used against you. Anyone who uses a credit report or another type of consumer report to deny your application for credit, insurance, or employment or to take another adverse action against you must tell you, and must give you the name, address, and phone number of the agency that provided the information.
- You have the right to know what is in your file. You may request and obtain all the information about you in the files of a consumer reporting agency (your "file disclosure"). You will be required to provide proper identification, which may include your Social Security number. In many cases, the disclosure will be free. You are entitled to a free file disclosure if:
  - a person has taken adverse action against you because of information in your credit report;
  - you are the victim of identity theft and place a fraud alert in your file;
  - your file contains inaccurate information as a result of fraud;
  - you are on public assistance;
  - you are unemployed but expect to apply for employment within 60 days.

In addition, all consumers are entitled to one free disclosure every 12 months upon request from each nationwide credit bureau and from nationwide specialty consumer reporting agencies. See www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore for additional information.

- You have the right to ask for a credit score. Credit scores are numerical summaries of your credit-worthiness based on information from credit bureaus. You may request a credit score from consumer reporting agencies that create scores or distribute scores used in residential real property loans, but you will have to pay for it. In some mortgage transactions, you will receive credit score information for free from the mortgage lender.
- You have the right to dispute incomplete or inaccurate information. If you identify information in your file that is incomplete or inaccurate, and report it to the consumer reporting agency, the agency must investigate unless your dispute is frivolous. See www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore for an explanation of dispute procedures.
- Consumer reporting agencies must correct or delete inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information. Inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information must be removed or corrected, usually within 30 days. However, a consumer reporting agency may continue to report information it has verified as accurate.
- Consumer reporting agencies may not report outdated negative information. In most cases, a consumer reporting agency may not report negative information that is more than seven years old, or bankruptcies that are more than 10 years old.
- Access to your file is limited. A consumer reporting agency may provide information about you only to people with a valid need usually to consider an application with a creditor, insurer, employer, landlord, or other business. The FCRA specifies those with a valid need for access.
- You must give your consent for reports to be provided to employers. A consumer reporting agency may not give out information about you to your employer, or a potential employer, without your written consent given to the employer. Written consent generally is not required in the trucking industry. For more information, go to www.ftc.gov/credit.

- You may limit "prescreened" offers of credit and insurance you get based on information in your credit report.

  Unsolicited "prescreened" offers for credit and insurance must include a toll-free phone number you can call if you choose to remove your name and address from the lists these offers are based on. You may opt out with the nationwide credit bureaus at 1-888-567-8688.
- You may seek damages from violators. If a consumer reporting agency, or, in some cases, a user of consumer reports or a furnisher of information to a consumer reporting agency violates the FCRA, you may be able to sue in state or federal court.
- Identity theft victims and active duty military personnel have additional rights. For more information, visit www.ftc.gov/credit.

States may enforce the FCRA, and many states have their own consumer reporting laws. In some cases, you may have more rights under state law. For more information, contact your state or local consumer protection agency or your state Attorney General. For information about your federal rights, contact:
